ENGLAND SINCE 1920

Lucian R Ercolani, founder of ercol

MADE IN ENGLAND SINCE 1920

Lucian Ercolani, my Grandfather, founded ercol in 1920 in the heartland of English furniture making. Intent on designing and producing beautiful and honest furniture, both design and people were the cornerstones of his company from the very beginning. This remains true of the family owned, private company that continues his beliefs in the 21st Century.

Our passion for innovation in design and manufacturing is as strong today as it always has been. Our 16,000 sq.m highly sustainable factory combines the very latest technology with time-honoured craftsmanship to create a range of unique pieces, made with integrity and fit for purpose, designed by our very gifted in-house team or as part of exciting collaborations with wonderful external designers.

Over 97 years on, Lucian's designs from the 1950s and 60s still retain their classic and timeless appeal as part of the Originals range, we are always developing and growing our themes to add new and exciting collections and collaborations, ensuring that ercol remains at the forefront of continued excellence in international innovative furniture design and manufacture.

RHO

Designed by Matthew Hilton, the Rho upholstery collection follows his ethos of designing furniture to be practical, functional and aesthetically beautiful. A refined combination of the graphic solid oak frame balanced with deep, soft cushions and a curvaceous upholstered back rest.

MODULO

A collection of contemporary modular cabinets refined in design, includes a wide low sideboard and a single cabinet with flexibility to stack and suit your storage requirements. The new modula collection is made of solid white oak, attention to detail with dovetail jointed cabinets and beautifully crafted textured doors and drawers. This sleek cabinet is available in 3 finishes, Oak, Chestnut and Black, to offset the oak doors and drawers.

PONTE & FORMA

The Ponte table is a striking extending dining table with an engineered oak top. A stunning aluminium frame spans between solid oak legs, the silent glide end pull reveals a generous additional leaf. Hand-finished through-tenons and a subtle undercut edge profile on the oak top, mark this out as a new generation of ercol table bringing together old and new technologies. Complementing the Ponte table, the beautiful Forma chair made with solid Oak and Oak veneers is designed to be timeless and durable.

MARINO

Marino created in solid ash timber, references the qualities and features of ercol design classics through a considered design aesthetic. Its elegance and flowing lines, featuring turned elements, combined with exceptional craftsmanship create a striking, contemporary armchair. New for 2017 is the Marino large sofa and leather upholstery.

NEST

A unique design, with a striking steam bent beech frame, cradles deep cushions in an assortment of sumptuous textural fabrics, to create an extrovertly designed, yet exceptionally comfortable set of sofas. The Nest represents an illustrious collaboration between Paola Navone and the ercol design team.

PERO

A collection of contemporary pieces designed by Matthew Hilton for ercol. The new Pero desk, low shelving unit and tall shelving unit, made of solid white oak, are designed with a light touch using a considered collation of modern materials that make the surfaces appear to float.

TREVISO

The Treviso desk designed by Matthew Hilton captures an element of architectural character, combined with a timeless elegance, amplified through the natural beauty of solid, pale oak or rich, dark walnut. The perfect pairing with a Butterfly Chair from the Originals collection.

FLOW

The Flow dining chair is made from beautiful beech with curvaceous form. The high level of craftsmanship is evident through the refined sweeping lines, elegant tapered seat and the ergonomic stacking function. This striking contemporary design by Tomoko Azumi, reflects her aim of improving daily life through design, its form and functionality creating a stunning addition to ercol's portfolio.

ROMANA

The Romana range is beautifully sophisticated and understated, with soft contemporary outlines and smooth edges, crafted from solid oak. Sculpted curves add subtle detailing across joints, whilst shaped edges and surfaces reflect the flowing lines of ercol's iconic Originals design.

ORIGINALS

The ercol Originals collection boasts iconic pieces, first launched in the 1950s and 60s. Many have remained in constant production since and several have recently been lovingly updated, remaining true to their original design. With the beauty and colour of solid beech, elm and walnut, the entire range represents timeless and classic design.

DESIGNERS

Our philosophy of remaining at the forefront of continued excellence and international innovative furniture design, sees the ercol design studio collaborate with exciting design projects. Each of our design partners supports the ercol design ethos of classic, timeless appeal and continues to add to our stunning, global portfolio.

Tomoko Azumi

Born in Japan, Tomoko Azumi trained as an architect before later studying furniture design at the Royal College of Art. Following a ten year partnership at AZUMI, Tomoko opened t.n.a. Design Studio in 2005. Her designs are synonymous with both stunning form and superb functionality, improving the quality of everyday life through visual aesthetic.

Paola Navone

An eclectic designer known for an untiring curiosity in her search for matters and materials. Paola Navone's designs reflect a combination of flavours and colours of the southern hemisphere together with the taste and forms of the west; rich in traditions, open and continuously in movement.
Designed by Paola Navone Nest

Matthew Hilton

Intimately associated with the revival of the British furniture design scene, Matthew Hilton is one of the most respected designers having been awarded Designer of the Year at The British Design Awards 2008. His involvement with ercol and the stunning Treviso desk showcases his love for classic design features.
Designed by Matthew Hilton Treviso, Rho and Pero

Dylan Freeth

Dylan Freeth has been part of the ercol design studio since 2011. As part of the design team Dylan consistently designs and develops inspirational furniture for the international market, having received Design Guild Marks for Romana and Marino in 2014 & 2016.

Lucian R Ercolani, or the "Old Man", as he is affectionately known in the company, founded ercol in 1920. Born in Italy in 1888, Lucian's family moved to London in the 1890s where he studied drawing, design and the theory and construction of furniture at night school. Lucian was responsible for ercol's furniture designs for many years, drawing inspiration from the Chiltern Hills, where he lived and built his first factory.

Originals by Lucian R Ercolani

LARA & LUCA

Since the company's foundation in 1920, ercol has provided furniture for the contract market. Our full range of furniture is available for our contract customers, including upholstery, cabinet, chairs and stools. Versatility is captured through our wide variety of timbers and finishes and a selection of stacking furniture.

Location: The Albion Restaurant, Clerkenwell and Benugo, Lincoln's Inn Fields, London.
